In the absence of you supplying a valid policy of insurance and driving licence the disposal of both vehicles has been authorised as 14 days has elapsed.

You were advised what was required document wise and have not been provide us with those documents.

Hi,

Please respond, update required as soon as possible. With respect, I feel I'm not receiving the level of service needed that would enable me to reach a positive conclusion within the prescribed timeframe.

In retrospect a solicitor would have been much better suited to take up the handling of this given the difficulty experienced and the ambiguous terminology used.

I appreciate there maybe an element of bias towards me given the nature of the job you guys do and the interpretation of my character as I imagine your clientele are by and large a difficult bunch but I beg of you to cut me some slack. I've already lost a lot and been dealt with by the courts as they deemed appropriate, I really cannot afford to lose the cars as they are my most valuable assets and need to recover the value from them.

With absolute sincerity, I will sell the cars immediately, I have no intention of driving them under any circumstances, or in the very least until legally able to do so. I was never a bad driver but had a really hard time dealing with the sharks that are private insurance companies.

I would ask you bare in mind that insurance companies have a financial incentive to cancel policies that enables them to charge exorbitant fees when reinsuring. It's a massive conflict of interest and they are honestly the root of the evil tree in this entire debacle that has seen me potentially stripped of my most valuable assets, loss of license, loss of freedom during time spent in custody, £180 fine, 2 weeks (80 hours) unpaid work, 10 rehabilitation sessions, costs expected to recover the vehicles including impound fees and insurance, a notch on my criminal record, lots of stress and ultimately, a huge negative impact on quality of life and prospects/outlook during the disqualification period.

I would be extremely grateful for your help here. I will do my absolute best to fulfil whatever requirements you have.

Sincerely

Adam Moores

(Vehicle Excise Duty + V62 Receipt 10/07/21)

Seat Leon was purchased from a car trader near Belle Vue.

When the vehicle was taxed and a replacement V5 sought through a V62 application, I submitted my home address on the application and the post office system accepted this.

I can assure there was no reason for me to believe the vehicle wasn't registered to me at this point. The vehicle trader was a young Asian chap, I imagine he didn't post out the change of keeper form where it was then mistakenly assumed lost in the post or misplaced by mother since not arriving.

HD06 DDU

Seized: 09/08/21

Vehicle is registered to me but missing V5.

Would a V62 receipt and certificate of insurance with compound release and nominated driver cover for each vehicle, be sufficient to allow release of both vehicles?

I intend to sell the vehicles immediately and would appreciate a resolution here.

Thanks

You need to send us what documents you have and we will advise what else may be required.

If the vehicles are being recovered there still needs to be a policy of insurance in place that covers the release from a compound and the nominee that is collecting will require the relevant licence.

Thanks for that.

I have 1x seizure notice for only the Seat Leon. I wasn't issued a see seizure notice for the VW Golf as officer in charge of the incident was keen to get me to the station. The Golf is registered to me, how do I proceed? Would a v62 receipt suffice?

As I no longer have a valid driving license, is it possible to use a specialist recovery company to transport the vehicles to private land where sale of each vehicle can be conducted? Or would that method still require a specific insurance policy for myself and a nominated driver on the vehicle.

The vehicles will need the appropriate level of insurance to release them from a compound regardless as whether they are collected by a recovery vehicle.

The driver will also require a valid licence.

KD07 BGO - Seat Leon

HD06 DDU - VW Golf

Contacted Birch Lane Garage compound both vehicles are confirmed there.

=====

KD07 BGO - SEAT LEON

Seized: 6/8/21

FWIN: 127

I have the seizure notice for the Seat Leon however the vehicle dealer didn't post the change of keeper details when I bought the vehicle. Please find attached a picture of the vehicle excise duty receipt of payment to help substantiate proof of ownership of KD07 BGO.

Note: When V62 application was made, counter staff advised that the application would be handled by an automated system and would only be accepted along as certain conditions were met. I set my own details out in the form as follows:

Adam Moores

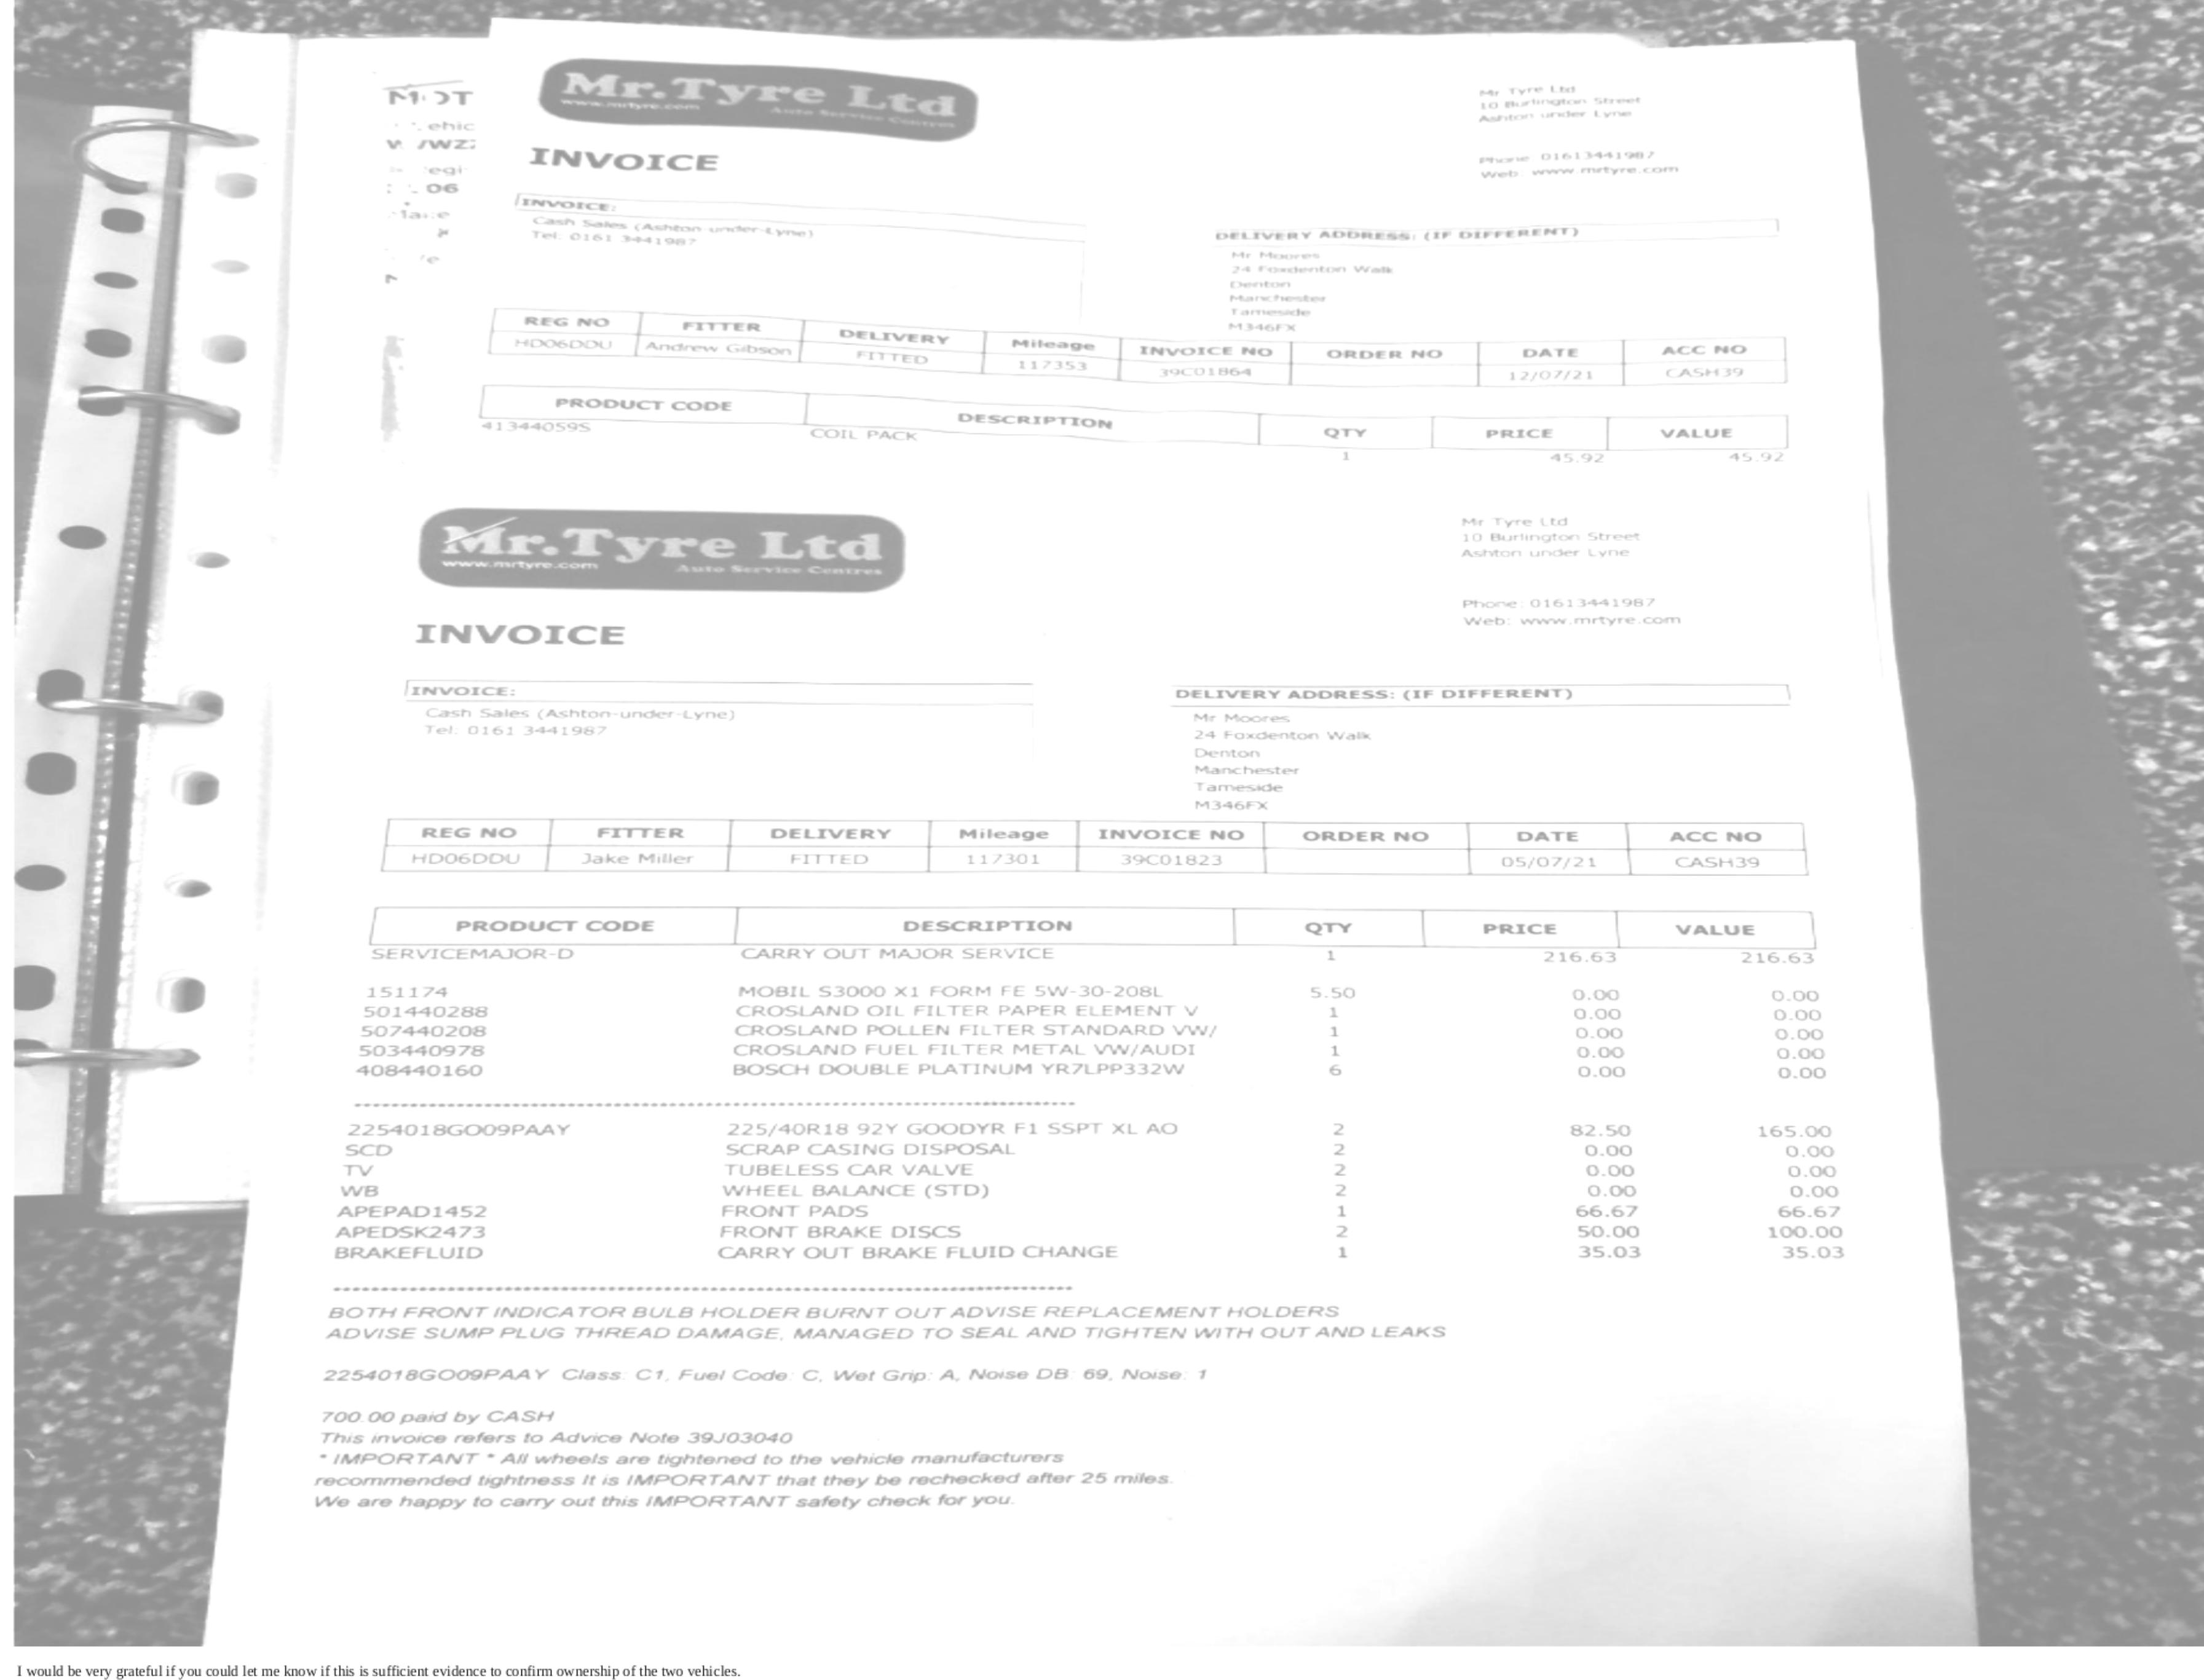

24 Rodderton Walk

Denton

M34 6FX

This was accepted by the system at the post office so at this point I had no reason to think the vehicle wasn't registered to me.

KD07 BGO - Vehicle Excise Duty payment & V62 application fee.

I would be very grateful if you could let me know if this is sufficient evidence to confirm ownership of the two vehicles.

Given my recent disqualification, I'm of the understanding I need to have a specialist insurance cover note in place that has myself and a nominated driver on the policy.

I intend to sell the vehicles and would ask if I can have the vehicles removed by a specialist recovery company and taken to a private storage area where the sale of each vehicle can be conducted? If this is possible do I still need the specialist insurance?

If there's anything else please let me know I will do my best to supply any other information you may need.

Sincerely

A.Moore

Hi,

My name's Adam Moore

I had 2x vehicles seized by X127;

Seat Leon: K007 BGO

VW Golf: HD06 DDU

I'm unable to source the VS for either vehicle. I suspect my ex partner has had away with them during our breakup but nonetheless I am without them.

I've also only been issued with one seizure notice that corresponds to the Seat Leon. I wasn't given a seizure notice for the Golf.

I believe the Seat is not registered to the correct keeper, I bought this from a car dealer off gumtree, a young Asian chap based near what used to be Showcase cinemas, Belle Vue.

I'm extremely concerned as to whether I'll be given the cars back at this stage.

Please contact me on:

Many Thanks

Adam Moore
